The new sleep system from Hollandia International is something else! From the company who are known for producing extraordinary sleep systems, mattresses and bedding comes The Gravity Zero Groove sleep system which is in a complete league of it's own.

The Gravity Zero Groove sleep system features a 150-watt sound system so, as the name suggests, you can get your groove on. The two massage systems with 12 massage programs ensures you'll never wake up exhausted. The lines and hip styling of the bed and mattress includes four-joint adjustability, a back-sliding system and a shoulder comfort zone.

The mattress is made from ventilated Talalay latex offering you full support and comfort.

No word of pricing just yet, but don't expect full musical comfort to come cheap!
