

Hollandia International Gravity zero Music Power Bed

Monday, Nov 12th 2007 by James Allan Brady

This bed, if you can call it that, has a more powerful sound system built into it than I have connected to my computer or in my car. 150 watts is what this "bed" will crank out.

Hollandia International, known for making some really high end sleep systems (aka beds), is the company bringing you this odd looking, high powered bed. On top of the amazing sound system integrated in, it also has 4 joint adjustments, 2 sleep system motors, 2 massage systems with 12 different programs, a Talalay Latex mattress, and matching pillows.

There is also a pneumatic hand control, oh yeah, and the 150 watt audio system. Now this high end of a sleep pod doesn't come cheap, and apparently nothing from Hollandia does as their sleep system products range from $10 to $50, oh yeah, go ahead and add a comma and about three zero's onto the back end of both of those figures, you know, for accuracy, and posterity.